DWYER WAS ECONOMICAL. Wife Seeks Divorce, Saying He

Gave Her $15 in Four Years. Isabelle Dwyer alleges, in her suit for divorce filed yesterday against Harry L. Dwyer, that he only gave her 10 cents to 15 cents a day to run the house on when they went to housekeeping after being married, and left her after they had been living together only a short time. He falled to pay the rent, she says, and she was sued out as a result.

Her husband returned to live with her, but did not contribute to her support, she avers, and she was obliged to apply to her father for means. Her husband did not give her more than $15, she alleges, in the four years of their married life. She asks for the custody of their 3-year-old child, kitchard.

Mr. Zug said that he knows Hall very well, having become acquainted with him while Hall was boarding last year at No. 2702 Locust street. Hall was a frequent visitor at his store, he said, and when Hall visited the city last week he called there. "Hall told me," said Zug, "that he was going to remain in the city for several weeks. He told me where he was stopping, but as I was not particularly interested I did not pay much attention and consequently do not remember the address."

Since 1833 James Speyer, the active head of the house, has been an important factor in the financial management of the company, and, although neither he nor his partners are directors of the company, the firm and the investment interests presented by it, are generally believed to be much more heavily interested in Southern Pacific socurities than Mr. Huntington was. Speyer & Co issured prominently in the several & Co. figured prominently in the several syndleates which recently bought the Southern Pacific stock held by the Stanford and Crocker estates, and the holdings of these interests have therefore, been largely increased during the last year.

Their selection of an Eastern railroad man would greatly surprise the financial and railroad world, it having been expected that either H. E. Huntington or Charles H. There has been much discussion recently on the railway tramp nuisance. There is no doubt that the evil is increasing, and that Collis P. Huntington.

managers are seriously considering means for ridding their lines of this obnoxious for ridding their lines of this obnoxious list twenty-first birthday yesterday. He is the youngest man in the business holding result of more or less experience on both sides of the fence we have come to believe Hughes of the Frisco, who is two years his result of more or less experience on both sides of the fence we have come to believe that the train crews themselves can, and will, overcome the difficulty, providing certain concessions are given the freight men, who, of course, are the ones most intimately concerned with the problem. As a general thing these crews make but a half-hearted attempt to keep their trains clear of tramps, for the (sufficient to them), reason that there is generally a brother railroad man among any particular lot of hobos. This might as well be recognized at once, for no bulletin or example will prevent a manly railway employe (and the manly ones are perforce the best men) from feeling kindly disposed toward another booafide railroader, who is traveling in search of employment. As a result, the railway man who for the time, being is a hobo is carried, orders to the contrary notwithstanding. In consequence, the risk of discipline which the conductor has thus assumed leads him to not very strongly insist on ridding the train of non-railway. Thermometer, degrees 74 85

Exercise and Health.

Exercise is a splendid thing for a healthy person. But when the body is weakened by disease, exercise strains rather than strengthens. Exercise will not cure a "weak" stomach. It may increase the appetite, but it won't cure dyspepsia, and an increased appetite is a curse not a blessing to the sufferer
